

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED

Under this heading, which appears twice a year, the International Review lists recent publications which may interest readers, particularly those engaged in research. These publications are available at the ICRC library and selected works will be reviewed in future issues.

- Arieh Ben-Tov, Facing the holocaust in Budapest—the ICRC and the Jews in Hungary 1943-1945, Martinus Nijhoff Publishers, Dordrecht/Henry Dunant Institute, Geneva, 1988, 512 pp. (in English).

The author, an Israeli lawyer and historian and a survivor of Auschwitz, examines in detail the problems encountered by the ICRC when providing protection and assistance in Hungary (1943-1945), with particular reference to the Jewish community.

- Mario Bettati, Bernard Kouchner, Le devoir d'ingérence, Editions Denoël, Paris, 1987, 300 pp. (in French).

The Proceedings of the International Conference on Law and Humanitarian Ethics (Paris, January 1987).

- Pam Brown, Henry Dunant, Exley Publications Ltd., Watford (United Kingdom), 1988, 64 pp. (in English).

An illustrated biography of the founder of the Red Cross, intended for the general reading public.

- De l'utopie à la réalité (Ed. Roger Durand), Henry Dunant Society, Geneva, 1988, 432 pp. (in French).

Proceedings of the Henry Dunant Symposium which was held in Geneva on 3, 4 and 5 May 1985.

- Winning the human race: Report of the Independent Commission on International Humanitarian Issues, Berger-Levrault, Paris, 1988, 262 pp. (in English, French, Spanish).

- Yoram Dinstein, War, aggression and self-defence, Grotius Publications Ltd., Cambridge, 1988, 292 pp. (in English).

An analysis of concepts of war, aggression, self-defence and collective security and related subjects such as neutrality and crimes against peace.

- Jean-Claude Favez, Mission impossible? Le CICR et les camps de concentration nazis, Payot, Geneva, 1988, 430 pp. (in French).

The outcome of several years' research, drawing especially upon the ICRC archives, this work provides a comprehensive and perceptive picture of one of the most complex and painful chapters of recent history. It also contains a statement from the President of the ICRC in reply.

- Hisakazu Fujita, International regulation of the use of nuclear weapons, Kansai University Press, Kansai, 1988, 394 pp. (in English).

International law and the use of nuclear weapons: an examination of the status of nuclear weapons under humanitarian law and an analysis of cases in which certain regions have been declared nuclear-free zones.

- Christian Koenig, Der nationale Befreiungskrieg im modernen humanitären Völkerrecht, Peter Lang, Frankfurt, 1988, 220 pp. (in German).

Wars of national liberation and modern international humanitarian law: some views on the question of the application of Article 1, para. 4, of Protocol I to the 1949 Geneva Conventions.

- The Law of Naval Warfare (Ed. N. Ronzitti), Martinus Nijhoff Publishers, Dordrecht, Boston, London, 1988, 888 pp. (in English).

A collection of agreements and documents on the law of naval warfare, with commentaries. Emphasis is placed on legal provisions which are most in need of revision.

- Angelo Miatello, L'arme nucléaire en droit international, Peter Lang, Frankfurt, 1987, 722 pp. (in French).

This book analyses the legality of the manufacture, development and potential use of nuclear weapons.

- Jean Pictet, L'épopée des Peaux-Rouges, Favre, Paris, 1988, 820 pp. (in French).

A comprehensive history of the North American Indians. This account of hatred and bloodshed is also a very human document extolling bravery and nobility and condemning war and oppression.

- Refugees—The trauma of exile (Ed. Diana Misérez), League of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies, Geneva, Martinus Nijhoff Publishers, Dordrecht, 1988, 340 pp. (English edition); Emile Bruylant, Brussels (French edition).

A description of the psychological stress affecting refugees and asylum seekers, the result of ill-treatment in their countries of origin, traumatic experiences during their escape and the difficulty or readjusting to life in host countries. Observations and experiences of Red Cross and other experts collected at a Red Cross workshop held in Vitznau, Switzerland, in October 1987.

- Antonio Truyol Serra, Henry Mechoulan, Peter Haggemacher, Antonio Ortiz-Arce, Primitivo Marino, Joe Verhoeven, Actualité de la pensée juridique de Francisco de Vitoria, Emile Bruylant, Brussels, 1988, 130 pp. (in French).

A report with commentaries on the proceedings of the Study Day organized in Louvain-la-Neuve on 5 December 1986 by the Charles de Visscher Centre for International Law.

In 1989

The International Review of the Red Cross will deal, inter alia, with the following subjects:

- Efforts to eliminate torture;
- Implementing and disseminating international humanitarian law;
- Protecting human life;
- Retracing the origins of international humanitarian law — to mark the 125th anniversary of the adoption of the Geneva Convention of 22 August 1864 (special edition);
- The red cross and red crescent emblem (special edition).